Cotton Picker Against the Negro.

(Charlotte Chronicle.)

The day of the cotton picker is coming. The Price-Campbell machine represents the most advanced type and it has been perfected to such a degree, that the Texas Legislature has given it official recognition. The Market World and Chronicle notes that the Legislature of that State has enacted a law which permits farmers to organize companies and incorporate for the purpose of purchasing and operating these machines. The amount of capital stock of corporations of this character is limited to $50,000. It is said by the supporters of the bill that the demonstrations upon plantations in this State last season were highly successful. The cost of a machine places it out of reach of the individual farmer, but by forming companies one can be purchased and made to do the work for many farmers. One of the great advantages of the machine is that it will end the dependence of cotton growers upon the irresponsible negro labor which has been always relied upon to pick the cotton after it has been grown. This labor is often almost impossible to be had at any price, and is always expensive. The current wages for picking cotton now runs from 75 cents to $1.25 per hundred pounds of seed cotton, or 2 1/2 to 3 cents per pound of lint cotton. Figure on a production of 3,000,000 bales for Texas there is now paid to negroes in that State annually a sum from $20,000,000 to $30,000,000. It is estimated that the new cotton picker will do the work for less than one-quarter of this amount.

A Weekly Paper Like a Grist Mill

We suppose it never occurred to many of our readers that local news and advertisements for weekly papers that they are in any respect like grist mills. Imagine a grist mill in a community where it takes all the time to grind the corn. Then let every farmer carry in his corn Saturday morning and demand his meal that day. Could it be furnished? Certainly not. The mill would be idle five days in the week and over run one day. If the corn should be brought to the mill all along through the week, as the mill was ready for it, all the meal could be delivered Saturday. When one issue of a weekly paper is mailed, the editor at once goes to work on the next issue. If the news and advertisements are delivered to him all along during the week, as the mill was ready for it, he can have them set up and be ready to publish the paper and send it out Thursday or Friday morning, as the case may be, but if everybody waits with news and advertisements until Thursday afternoon, to deliver them to the editor, who can he do with them? The question should not be how late can I get in what I want to go in the paper, but how soon can I get the matter ready for the editor. The paper must come out on time or the subscribers will grumble.

The Burden of Taxation.

(Monroe Enquirer.) If you increase the valuation of property this year, O ye tax men, please decrease the rate. Taxation is getting to be a burden, especially to the ones who live in the towns where taxes are double what they are in the country. When tax gets above two per cent on their taxable property they would think that they were escaping wonderfully well from tax burdens. A day laborer in the town of Monroe pays a week's wages in poll tax every year. Yes, sir, pays two and a half per cent. of his wages in poll tax. Gentlemen, if you do not decrease the tax levy as you raise the valuation of property you are robbing your people a burden too grievous to be borne. Hear our cry, which is a cry of all the people, O ye men who lay the burden of taxes upon us.

A Big Undertaking.

The trestle at the second mile post on the Seaboard Air Line is now being tilled in. A force of fourteen men, in addition to the work train crew, have been at work on this job for three weeks or so, and some time yet will be required to complete it. A steam shovel and an engine drawing three cars are in use, and this gives some idea of the extent of the undertaking.

LEGAL PHRASEOLOGY.

What Some of the Terms Common to Court Practice Mean.

To most persons the phrase "This indenture witnesseth" is as much Greek as the other common phrase "Witness my hand and seal." Yet both are relics of a time when these legal forms carried with them a significance not obtaining at present.

Legal documents were once engrossed upon parchment because paper cost so much more than dressed skin. The parchment was seldom trimmed exactly and the top was scalloped with the knife; hence the term "This indenture." Even where the lawyers have departed from the custom of using parchment for their legal forms the phrase has been retained.

In the same way the signature of "hand and seal" is a relic of those olden times when only clerks and the clergy could wield the pen. It was the custom for the contracting parties to lay their hands upon the document in token of good faith, and there remained a smudge, as these original thumb marks were not easily identified, the gentry added their seals for the purpose of further establishing the validity of the document. It may not be generally known that a seal is still required in law, though the need for it passed with the spread of education, and the bit of red paper affixed by the lawyer is as necessary as the signature to certain documents.

A court of law is a reminiscence of the time when justice sat in the open courtyard, and the "dock" is from a German word meaning a receptacle, while the "bar" is a Welsh word meaning a branch of a tree used to separate the lords of justice from their vassals.

The entire phraseology of the bench is reminiscence of the earlier days, but, having been proved proper, has been retained.—New York Herald.

Halifax Law.

The evil repute of Halifax implied in the adage "Go to Halifax" came to it by inheritance from Halifax in Yorkshire, England. Halifax law, as may be gathered from a letter of Lord Leicester quoted by Motley, was that criminals should be "condemned first and inquired upon afterward."

Halifax lay within the forest of Hardwick, where the law was that if a felon was taken with 13 1/2 pence worth of stolen goods he should be tried by four free burgess from four of the precinct towns and if condemned by them be hanged the next day. After this proceeding had been carried out to the letter the case might be sent to a jury. Halifax is also credited with being the home of the guillotine, which the regent, Earl Morton, introduced into Scotland only to have his own head chopped off with it.

The Right Number.

A teacher in giving a lecture to the members of her junior hygiene class had cautioned them against eating anything hard, such as nuts, hard candy, etc. A small boy held up his hand.

"What is it, Sammie?" she inquired.

"Say, did you ever see any of these here candy jaw breakers?" he asked.

"Yes, I believe so," she hesitated wonderingly.

"Well, Willie here," indicating another boy in the class, "stood right in front of Gregorie's store yesterday and ate five of them right down."

"Ate," corrected the teacher.

"Aw, was it eight?" I was thinking it was only five.—Delineator.

His Translation.

"I wonder what this means," said Mrs. Hornbeak, who had encountered in the midst of her perusal of the village newspaper one of the many examples of the perversity to which the limotype is particularly prone. "It says here that Nathan Trilligan is walking with a cane because he sprogknached shirlward emfayrup emfwyppwzthifemfwypprlllo."

"Aw," replied honest Farmer Hornbeak, "prob'ly he slipped down and stepped on his own tongue."—Puck.
